

Hui Malama Learning Center More Than Just a School

Looking for Experienced Middle School, High School and GED Teachers at Hui Malama Learning Center for the 2010-2011 School Year.

Qualifications include:

- 4 year degree in Education or related field from an accredited university or college
- Certification from any U.S. state
- Minimum 2 years teaching experience
- Experience working with at-risk youth and/or alternative learning methods
- Ability to teach all subject matter at a 10th grade level for GED classes
- Experience with individualizing lesson plans
- Ability to engage students
- Strong classroom management skills
- Ability to work with growing and changing programs
- Knowledge of team building methods
- Annual contract

Call (808) 244-5911 for more information or download an application at <http://www.mauihui.org>

Hui Malama Learning Center, a non-profit, Maui United Way agency, provides middle school, high school, and GED-preparation programs, as well as tutoring and educational enrichment programs to public and private school students grades K-12. Our programs are designed to inspire, nurture, and empower students to pursue career opportunities that contribute to the community and bolster our islands' economy, and to prepare them to be responsible leaders within our community. To do this, we focus on developing the whole person with life skills in addition to academic success, including guidance for students to make healthy choices.

What makes Hui Malama unique?

- Our small class environment allows more individualized attention
- Hands-on, project-based learning
- Youth engagement strategies
- Emphasis on Science, Technology, Engineering, and Math (STEM)
- Sustainability themes, such as renewable energy and agriculture, woven throughout each program
- Ongoing research and development of curricula to ensure that teaching methods are tailored to specific needs